

March 2012 Newsletter

Hi Everyone,

OMG, I have so much to tell you. I hope I can fit it all in this newsletter. I've gone back to study & am learning lots about spray tans. With a little more renovating my new tanning room should be finished very soon.... My sister is setting up a hairdressing area here in April, offering hair care once a fortnight on a Saturday. I have a pricelist available instore. My new Shellac Gel Polish & Nude by Nature makeup & skin care range still seems to be popular. And Enovia foot crème is finely back in stock. This product is great for feet in need of TLC. You know who you are ☺ Anyway happy reading & I'll see you soon, Jennie

COMING SOON – Naked Tan Spray Tans (no you don't need to be in the nuddy it's just the name ☺)

I just finished a course with Naked Tan & fell in love with the product, the service & support the company provided. You know me, I like to know all the ins & out of a service/product before I take it on. It also made me think about who would get spray tans & why. Not the supermodels, but people like you & me. How good is it that you can look nice & tanned or hide varicose veins in just 15 mins as opposed to dangerous & painful sunburn.

Naked Tan is an Australian product that was actually released in 2007 worldwide as the first 2hr wash & wear tan. Go Aussie for innovations ☺. Its formula is made with a combination of the most natural organic ingredients. It contains no paraben, no alcohol, plus has lots of good things like aloe vera to nourish the skin & a lovely vanilla & coconut scent...

The main active ingredient in naked tan is organic DHA. This is quite safe as it does not penetrate the skin or enter the bloodstream. It was interesting to find out spray tanning it's not a stain or dye, but rather an interaction of the product with your outer layer of dead skin cells & your amino acids. It produces a colour change with the melanin over a 24 – 48 hour period. This would explain why your tan seems to get darker by the next day.

If it's your first ever spray tan, my advise is to go the lightest shade as your application will be 2 shades darker than your skin tone, & then sets a bit darker too. All spray tans require you to have a shower after a certain time (2 hrs for Naked Tan) to wash off the excess bronzer. You don't want to look like an orange umpalumpa due to over processing or stain your sheets. For lots more info please drop in & pick up a brochure.
